Two grievance systems: One question, opposite replies

Rajkot: The road to Rajkot-Ahmedabad special one highway is only getting longer by the day. And if you blamed the contractor for missing January 2020 deadline, the public grievance unit of PMO will prove you wrong. The reasons cited by the portal akin the delay to be an act of God! An executive engineer of the national highway division of the state government raised the grievance in the government's Centralized Public Grievance Redress and Monitoring System and was left with even more doubts than answers.

Interestingly, while the authority mentions that the reasons to showcase the circumstances were "out of their control", they neatly omit the very reasons they had themselves cited in an RTI reply to Jadede only in January this year. As reported earlier, in its reply to two RTI applications that Jadede submitted in January, the authorities had then held the contractors responsible for the huge delay.

15 flyovers and underpasses too was done. It, however, failed to mention that the total flyovers or underpass planned on the road were 35! In the termination notices awarded to one of the contractors - SADBHAV Engineering LTD - in December, 2022, the R&B department had mentioned that the "contractor continued to perform poorly without taking any remedial measures to cure the default."

Flattened fencing remains a barrier to lion protection

AHMEDABAD: The forest department is celebrating World Lion Day 2023 with pomp, but it is dragging its feet on repairing the fence along the railway track connecting Port Pipavav every two years after Cyclone Tauketau flattened it.

fencing while the work in the remaining 16 is only "in progress". It claims to have saved 129 lions in a year on this track by driving them away when a train approached. The other stretch is Savarkunda in Rajula where there is no fencing and lions are run over by trains. A senior forest officer of the Gir forest division said, "The discussions on fencing this stretch began in 2015-16 but every thing is still on paper only. Passenger trains are not adhering to the speed limits."
